THE CABINET AND THE DEMOCRATS.

The democrats and mugwumps hang together like the Siamese twins on one point—they don't like President Harrison's cabinet. It must be admitted that it is not like Cleveland's, and so far as representing corporations and monopolies is concerned it is not as strong a cabinet as the one which pleased the democrats and mugwumps so much, and which has just been bounced. There was something in the Cleveland cabinet that pleased the democrats and mugwumps very much. There was wealth in it. It could give one hundred and fifty thousand dollars to the Cleveland campaign fund, and the democrats and mugwumps would produce a smile that would tell of wonderful satisfaction.

One democratic paper kindly remarks that "out of the head one in the cabinet and there would not be anything left." This is really kind of a democratic newspaper to even admit that Mr. Blaine has brains. But what about the others? Windom, the secretary of the treasury, has not only filled that office before, but he has been in the house several years, and was in the senate nine years, and never before did even a democrat question the ability of William Windom.

The secretary of war is a big farmer—big in acre—but that ought not to militate against him. He has been governor of Vermont, and is a remarkably strong business man, but that ought not to militate against him for the war office.

And what is the matter with Tracy? He is a splendid lawyer and a mighty good man otherwise, but that ought not to condemn him in the estimation of democrats, but it seems that does. But a New York democrat who has not come sense, and once in a while a democrat of that kind will turn up in New York, said on Monday, "Harrison made a wonderful wise choice in cutting the republican Gordian knot in New York by appointing Tracy. He is more than able. It will probably surprise even the bar and the public to know that our internal revenue system, one that has been copied all over the world, is, to a large extent, the creation of his genius. With his remarkable executive ability and great culture, he ought to make a worthy successor of Secretary Whitney." It would seem to any one but a democrat that such executive ability as this ought to be used in the navy department.

Well, the democrats are howling over Wamaker. Does anybody know of any spots on him? He rose from a poor bricklayer to be the owner of the largest store in the world, but why should this make the democrats mad? He is one of the best business men in the United States, a man of a christian gentleman and a noble philanthropist, and yet the democrats object to him going into the cabinet. He pays out more money to young men and young women for their services than any democrat in the country, and yet the democrats are howling because Harrison made a postmaster general out of him.

A noble son of Missouri has been made secretary of the interior. He is not a politician. He has not made a political speech in years. He is a lawyer. He has brains, and lots of them. He has earned a large practice. There is not a blot on him; and yet the sports democrats do not like him.

President Harrison had the good sense to put his law partner in the attorney general's office. He is a splendid lawyer, and is practically non-partisan, a man who has a wealth of integrity, but he doesn't please the democrats. There is no Pan-electric scandal about him, and therefore he cannot match Garland.

But why should the democrats and mugwumps object to Jerry Risk? Of all men in the country he is certainly one of the best for the agricultural department. A man of strong business sense, having a judgment as sound as a starry, unblemished oak, he will fill the office with commendable skill and universal satisfaction.

There is a good deal of the "impotent wrath of hypocritical malice" in the democratic and mugwump attacks on the cabinet.

The Augusts, Georgia, Chronicle stands up in wrath and declares that, "Governor Hill did not originate the sentence, 'I am a Democrat.'" It says a man by the name of "O'Connor, of Essex county," said it as long ago as January 1, 1880. "The Chronicle might have added that 'between drinks the sentence has been repeated a million of times before either the Essex county man or Governor Hill said it.' It was, however, left for Grover Cleveland to add the adjectives in the sentence, 'I am an intense democrat.'"

Dr. King, the Bishop of Lincoln, who has been brought to trial for alleged violations of the ecclesiastical law, is described by the Pall Mall Gazette as having one of those spiritual faces which one cannot look at without feeling the better for it, and which positively beams with benevolence. And then, in the next column, the Pall Mall prints a portrait of him which looks like a cross between Fagin and Bill Sykes.

Day after day the Recorder assails the Hon. James G. Blaine. Now that the campaign is over and General Harrison is inaugurated, what valid objection has that paper to Mr. Blaine that it can truthfully state it believes?

THE WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE.

The Bill to Prohibit German in Public Schools Killed in the Assembly.

Several Important Measures Pass the Two Houses.

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, March 7.—The assembly by unanimous vote, this morning killed the bill to prohibit the teaching of the German language in the public schools.

The following bills were passed under suspension of the rules.

To establish a free library in Green Bay.

To change the law relating to election precincts, so as to take in additions to Milwaukee.

To create the town of Hoard, Clark county.

In the senate bills passed regulating proceedings in condemnation of property for public uses.

To exclude men from trials of sea delinquents or obscene nature.

Requiring specific reasons for asking for a new trial.

Requiring judges to render decisions within six months on cases heard before them on pain of removal by the governor.

Increasing the salary of circuit judge from $2,600 to $4,000.

President Harrison's inaugural had 4,190 words. "I" was repeated only seventeen times; "we," thirty times, and "our" thirty-six times. "The people" was mentioned twenty times, and finished the first sentence and concluded the address. A modest, concise, powerful, and patriotic plea for the people of these United States.

THE DOUGHTY BOULANGER.

He Draws His Sword in a Philadelphia Hotel and Attacks a Burglar.

"Do you know that Gen. Boulanger, the pet of Paris, was once robbed in the Continental hotel and that the thief was railroaded to jail within five hours to serve out a sentence of three years?" said a Philadelphia city official to a reporter of the Record.

The general was one of the distinguished French guests at the Yorktown celebration in October, 1881, and after the close of the festivities there the Frenchman came to this city and was quartered at the Continental. On the morning of Oct. 28 a well-known thief entered the suite of rooms occupied by Boulanger, Count Lichtenstein and another prominent representative of France who is remembered only as Fichgrau.

It was 6 o'clock and Gen. Boulanger was on the point of rising when he discovered the intruder going through the pockets of his trousers. Jumping out of bed and calling to his two sleeping companions the pride of the boulevard seized his sword, and with only his nightgown as coat of mail, made a rush, intending to run the thief through.

Count Lichtenstein also seized his sword, and was advancing upon the rascal for the purpose of cutting him into three when Fichgrau jumped between his friends and begged them to spare the man's life. The thief became thoroughly frightened and begged for mercy.

The scene was an impressive one. The pride and glory of the French army were capering around the room in a furious rage. Their only clothing was their nightgowns. The man was seized and forced to disgorge his booty. He had taken all their glittering gold medals, gold watches, diamonds and money. When the valuables were pulled out of the thief's pockets he was handed over to the hotel officers, and then the French warriors sheathed their swords and ordered up three cocktails to smooth their ruffled plumage and cool their anger.

The prisoner was identified as "Old Bill Connelly," a noted hotel thief, and was indicted and convicted before 11 that morning, at which Gen. Boulanger exclaimed: "What a great country you send your men to jail quicker than we do in France."

Boulanger sailed for France that day.

A House Elevator.

The ingenious plan proposed by a Berlin inventor for a simple and inexpensive elevator for private dwellings in place of the ordinary one, has attracted much attention as a long-felt desideratum. It is on the principle of the inclined railway, and the motive power is furnished by the city water, which is applied in the cellar; the water is raised to the top of the shaft, for example, one person can ascend from the first to the second story while another is on his way from the second to the third, or still another is descending from the fifth to the first. The chair being only of the width of the human body, requires but little space, and still leaves a free passage for any who wishes to walk up or down, instead of riding. It is set in motion by a simple pressure upon one of its arms, while after it has been used it slides back to the bottom step, its descent being regulated in such a manner that the carrying of a passenger is a matter of mere safety. The motive power is, of course, more or less expensive, according to the cost of water, this being, it is stated, in Berlin, at the rate of a little more than one-tenth of a cent only for each trip.

It's French, You Know.

If we must ape foreign customs and use foreign words and phrases at the capital, it is a relief to know that all is not English that glitters, though I am aware that the impression has gone out, probably on account of the reputation of the State Department, that we are all English, you know, says a Washington correspondent. A little hotel on the avenue has swung out the sign "The Pension Bourgeoise." Let the unlearned may think that this has some reference to the pension office. It may be well to explain that a French "pension" is a kind of private or family hotel. A laundry on the avenue has the word "Blanchisserie" on its front, and a barber on Foster street has had painted on his window "Coiffeur et Patisserie." You see we are progressing.

A Magnanimous Bachelor.

Several Eastern papers have been lately interviewing distinguished bachelors as to the reasons why they remained single. Among many interesting responses one seems peculiarly happy: "Whenever I have thought of marriage I have been obstructed by the reflection that I should be sorry for my wife."

THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

President Harrison Signs the Commission of His Cabinet Officers.

WASHINGTON, March 7.—The President signed the commissions of all the members of his Cabinet Wednesday morning, and they were formally inducted into office during the day.

Secretary Tracy was the first to qualify. He took the oath of office at the navy department about 11:45 o'clock in the presence of ex-Secretary Blaine and the principal officers of the department. The succeeding hour was devoted to the reception of officers, employees, and friends who called to extend their congratulations.

Secretary Proctor arrived at the War Department about 1 o'clock. Ex-Secretary Endicott and all the chiefs of bureaus were in waiting in the Secretary's office. Gen. Sherman also called on the retiring Secretary during the morning and evening. During the ceremonies incident to the change in the administration of the War Office. After Secretary Proctor had been duly installed, he received all the officers and employees of the department. Gen. Schofield and all the principal officers of the department were separately introduced by ex-Secretary Endicott.

Each of the new Secretaries was presented to the heads of the bureaus in the department by the retiring Secretary. The newly qualified Cabinet officers had little opportunity to attend to official business, as they were engaged in receiving a continuous line of callers, mostly people from their own States, who called to offer their congratulations, and the assistant secretaries kept the wheels of executive business in motion. Secretary Thompson and Maynard had a special interview with Secretary Windom and placed their resignations at his disposal, but expressed their willingness to continue at their desks until their successors were selected. Mr. Windom replied that he appreciated their kindness and would not act upon their resignations until he had conferred with the President on the subject.

Capital Notes.

A report is current that Col. Swords of Iowa is likely to succeed Col. Canaday as governor of that State. He can secure the support of certain Western influence which is now in doubt.

It is estimated that after paying all expenses and returning the $50,000 guarantee to the subscribers the inauguration committee will have a surplus of $20,000.

The entire Michigan delegation, Senators and Representatives, met this morning and pledged themselves to support Congressman Burrows for Speaker.

Robert S. Chilton, a clerk in the State department, has been appointed private secretary to Vice-President Morton.

ELOPEMENT AND TRAGEDY.

A RUNAWAY COUPLE END THEIR LIVES.

A Maniac Wife Decapitates Her Husband and Attempts to Kill Her Sons—The Criminal Record.

EARLYVILLE, Ill., March 7.—A horrible murder and suicide occurred in the residence of A. V. B. Phillips, two miles north of this city, at an early hour Wednesday evening. Sunday evening Duncan McLachlan, a young blacksmith, aged 30 whose home is in this city, but who for the past year has been working with his brothers in a shop at Paw Paw, and Car. Carnahan, the 13-year-old daughter of St. W. Carnahan, proprietress of the Detourneau house at Paw Paw, ran away together. Since then the girl's parent and detective have been on their track. Tuesday night the couple, tired out from walking, appeared at the house of Elmer Davis, and with whom McLachlan was acquainted and asked to stay, to which Davis consented. Wednesday they appeared jovial and happy and acted as though they were really in love, but at night they complained of feeling fatigued and retired early. A little after 7 o'clock Davis heard three shots fired in their room and hurrying up stairs he found McLachlan had turned the revolver upon himself. The first two bullets accomplished their mission, but the third, although fatal, did not produce death for some time. Young McLachlan has borne a good reputation here, his worst fault being an uncontrollable temper and a habit of brooding over any fancied insult or wrong. It is thought that the deed was planned some days before, and that the girl was a willing victim, as upon leaving home she left a note informing her mother that she would never again see her alive.

A TERRIBLE DEED.

An Insane Woman Kills Her Husband and Attempts Two Other Murders.

WAUKEGON, Wis., March 7.—A terrible tragedy was enacted last night in a little farmhouse on the Anderson property, between Deladell and Nashotah Missions. During a fit of temporary insanity Driscoll killed her husband, nearly decapitated him with an ax, and attempted to slay her two sons. The woman was arrested and taken to Waukegon. She has recovered her reason and recalls every incident of the terrible tragedy. Timothy Driscoll was about 58 or 60 years old, a tenant on the Anderson farm. His family consisted of his wife, about 55 years old; two sons, aged respectively 27 and 23, and a daughter about 25 years old, all living at home. Mrs. Driscoll has been in poor health some months, but until within a few days no fears were entertained that her reason would give way. During the last week or ten days, however, there have been indications that her mind was becoming deranged. The crazed woman nearly decapitated her aged husband with an ax, and attempted to slay her two sons. She was arrested near the head of the stairs and heard her mother's step as she stealthily ascended. Peering through the half open door she saw her mother move to the bedside of the young man and carefully unfasten the collar of the younger and lare his throat. Over the neck of the sleeping youth was held the razor, but she did not hesitate an instant, but sprang forward and grasped the woman's wrist. A desperate struggle ensued, lasting but a moment, in which the daughter succeeded in disarming her mother. The young man was quickly aroused and the woman overpowered.

TOOK POISON WHEN ARRESTED.

Edwin Marietta, of Lansing, charged with Assault, Kills Himself.

LANSING, Mich., March 7.—Edwin W. Marietta, a young Lansing business man, was arrested Jan. 22 for criminally assaulting a 9-year-old child. He obtained bail and left for Detroit to consult a lawyer. He was arrested in Detroit by Lansing officers, induced to write a letter to Marietta, deprecating him across the river to the American side. He was promptly arrested on his return, and was taken to the station, nine while in the police station and died in terrible agony on the train, while being brought to Lansing.

FATAL DUEL IN MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Mo., March 7.—Harlan Turner and J. W. McVeigh, two well-known and highly respected citizens of Butler, Mo., got into an altercation Monday night and were separated by friends. Later they met again, the quarrel was renewed and both being then armed, they opened fire. McVeigh was shot in the head and through the body and died soon after. Turner was not hurt, and was arrested and locked up.

A Father's Silly Suicide.

CLINTON, Iowa, March 7.—August Ziska, aged 69, who has been despondent for some time, hung himself in his woodshed Tuesday night because his daughter purchased a more expensive dress pattern than he thought she should. He was dead when found.

SEVEN MEN CREMATED.

Fifty Mules and Twenty-Five Street-Cars Also Consumed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 7.—At a late hour last night the Metropolitan company's street-car stables, corner of Fourth and Wyandotte streets, were completely destroyed by fire. Sixty-six mules, twenty-five cars and a hundred tons of hay were consumed. The men who first saw the fire rushed to cut the mules loose, but were unable to get out and are burned to death. The stablemen who got out at the front said that several strangers went into the stable to save animals and got out all right. Officer Flanagan, who was among the first at the scene, says that of the nine men who rushed in with him only two got out besides himself. They were all strangers who happened by at the time. He thinks they were alone robbers. The loss is estimated at $30,000, and is fully insured. About sixteen mules were saved.

Tom Cannon Throws Muldoon.

Tally for the Widow.

He gazed around the cheerful and comfortable-looking apartments; then, addressing the widow, he said: "Your husband's been dead over a year now?"

"Yes," she answered, with a sigh, "over a year."

"I remember reading his obituary," he said, "and I thought it contained a statement of facts." "A misstatement of facts?" "Yes, it said that he had gone to a better home. In my opinion it would be impossible for him to find a more cheerful, more comfortable and, with you in it, a more charming and desirable home than this." The widow smiled sweetly, then he was accepted.

ALL SOULS CHURCH.

RESIGNATION OF REV. JOSEPH WAITE—THE ELECTION OF TRUSTEES.

At the meeting of the members of All Souls church society last evening at the church parlors, James Harris and Walter Helms were elected trustees of the society for the term of three years.

At this meeting of the society the Rev. Joseph Waite, pastor, announced that he had accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Unitarian Society, Troy, New York, and that he would close his labors here Sunday, March 31st. The Gazette announced last week that Mr. Waite had received this call, but it was not known at that time whether or not he would accept. Not only All Souls society but the large number of people who have attended services at this church will sincerely regret his departure. Outside his church and congregation Mr. Waite has many warm personal friends in Janesville, who will wish him prosperity in his new field of labor.

CAL BROUGHTON'S RECORD.

HE WILL PLAY BEHIND THE BAT FOR ST. PAUL.

St. Paul Globe—Behind the bat in the St. Paul team for 1889 will be the face of that "old reliable," Cal Broughton, who has been in the base ball arena many years, most of the time as a northwestern or western leaguer. Back in 1884 he caught for the Milwaukee Northwestern league team, going the next season to a southern team. Late in the season of 1885, when the clubs of the south began to break up, Broughton returned to his old love, Milwaukee, remaining there through the season of 1887. In 1888 he signed with Detroit, but with the Wolverines he did not show up well, owing to illness, and was released to Minneapolis, where he remained until that team was disbanded in August, whence he came to St. Paul. Broughton is a great catch for a young pitcher, and it takes a pretty fleet-footed runner to steal second base on him. He refuses to get rattled under any circumstances, and is always a prince of good humor.

GERMAN IN THE SCHOOLS.

WILL IT BE ALLOWED TO REMAIN—JANESVILLE NOT AFFECTED.

Madison dispatches say it is a prospect that when Mr. Silsbee's bill to provide that English shall be the only language taught in the public schools comes up for third reading, the committee on education reported in favor of it, and at one time it looked as though the bill would go through the house without opposition; but finally the German newspapers awoke to the fact that in time their constituents might outgrow them and go elsewhere for the news, and they have set several aspiring politicians at work against the bill to try to kill it on the ground of political expediency. It only provides that nothing but English shall be taught in the common schools, and leaves the question of languages in high schools, normal schools and the state university just where the matter is now, in the discretion of the boards which manage them. Janesville's newly extended high school curriculum will therefore not be interfered with.

A PLAY WITH A PLOT.

ALTHOUGH THE PLOT AT TIMES SEEMS A DETRIMENT.

"A Paper Doll" was offered to Janesville people last evening. The number of people who showed their appreciation of dolls filled Lappin's hall very comfortably, and the applause and laughter evoked proved that they were well pleased. If there was a feeling that once last season the bonny actress's charms had shaded a trail toward the matronly, it was last night of before the play was well begun.

"A Paper Doll" displays Miss Castleton in rather a different role from that of "Crazy Patch," but her welcome last evening made certain that it was appreciated equally well. The company for the present season is a carefully selected one. Miss Ada Deasys made a happy hit as Rebecca Buckley and Mrs. Clump. Excellent portrayals in an eccentric line were added by Messrs. W. A. Daniels, Bert Cyote and F. B. Bridgeland. Mr. Daily also helped to make the farce more swiftly along.

Of Miss Castleton's work nothing better can be given than her own words as she sat "in the wings" last evening.

"Whatever success I have achieved," said she, musingly, "has been from appealing to my audience's imagination. I don't care anything about their eyes. I think that is art. I may be wrong, of course, but that is my idea. A St. Louis journal once made a comparison between Lotta and myself. In the course of it the writer said that Lotta wore short skirts, sat on tables and the backs of chairs, and made the most liberal display of hoisery imaginable. But nobody minded her. The ladies laughed as they would over the antics of a child. Castleton, he went on to say, wore long dresses, but when she lifted her skirt and showed two inches of embroidered underwear, every lady in the house put her fan before her eyes. But I never could act in any other way, and when I tried to do rough, sledgehammer work, I nearly always failed."

WORKING FOR JANESVILLE.

Decided Action for an Investigation of the Water Works—The Female Seminary.

A Resolution To Oppose the Passage of the Taylor Bill Defeated.

The adjourned meeting of the Business Men's Association was well attended last evening. After the reading of the minutes of the last meeting of the association and approval, the report from the special committee appointed to consider the question of establishing a female seminary in this city, was called for.

Mr. A. M. Valentine, of that committee, stated that the committee appointed to investigate the Ladies' Seminary project, had done some advertising, which had resulted in an extensive correspondence. Miss Goodwin, of Chicago, had expressed a desire to visit Janesville, on Saturday evening, and meet some of the people with a view to establish a school. The association by unanimous vote, invited Miss Goodwin to be present, and also invited the ladies to be present on Saturday evening and meet Miss Goodwin at the rooms of the association.

Mr. Richard Valentine moved the passage of the resolution opposing the passage of the Taylor railway bill.

Mayor Winans stated that he had not been present when the bill had been discussed, but that he was in favor of the passage of the bill or one similar to it, and should vote against the resolution.

Mr. A. M. Valentine stated that he was the mover of the resolution and believed that the bill was unjust and its passage would be detrimental to the interests of the state.

Mr. Winans replied at some length and said that he was at a loss to know why the Business Men's Association should interest themselves in opposing the bill. He believed that a board of railway commissioners would be beneficial to the interests of the people, and cited the state commissions in Illinois, Minnesota and Michigan as examples.

President Hodson invited Mr. H. D. McKinstry to the chair, and then addressed the meeting. Mr. Hodson stated that in his judgment the inter-state law was unjust, and the Taylor bill was a pattern after the inter-state law. He believed that its passage would be injurious to the people, especially to shippers.

Mr. A. M. Valentine spoke in the interest of large shippers and believed that a flexible rate was desirable.

Mr. John Richardson spoke of personal grievances and said that he thought it could not be worse under the provisions of the Taylor bill.

Mr. S. B. Smith said that few persons realized the magnitude of the tribute which is paid to railroads. In this city there is annually raised about $45,000 for city taxes, and for city and county taxes about $20,000 more—making a total of $65,000 levied for purposes of government. Any increase for educational, or fire or any other objects is always received with opposition if not with absolute horror. The earnings of the railroads in Wisconsin are more than $20,000,000 annually, or thirteen dollars per capita for all the inhabitants of the state. Hence, if the citizens of Janesville pay their proportion, they contribute to the revenues of the railroad corporations the sum of more than $150,000 every year. In ten years this small city paid them the enormous total of one and one-half millions of dollars, and what has been received in return? Can any person point to a paltry five thousand dollars which has been invested in an attractive building, or a convenient side track, or in any advantage to our manufacturing interests? The speaker said that he did not believe that in the whole state of Wisconsin, there could be found a flourishing mill of the size of Mr. Hodson's, or a manufacturing concern of the magnitude of the Janesville Machine Company, to which the railroad companies refused to run a side track. In fact, it was the speaker's opinion, that the railroads had purposely conspired against Janesville; had refused to extend to them accommodations which were fully accorded to much more insignificant towns, and had made a very ungrateful return for the generosity and forbearance with which they had been treated by the citizens of Janesville.

Mayor Winans took the floor again and spoke with much earnestness in favor of the bill.

Mr. E. M. Hyzer asked whether the passage of the bill would be detrimental to the people of Janesville and if so why?

President Hodson and Mr. A. M. Valentine replied at some length, contending that the bill if passed would benefit the people.

After some further discussion a vote was taken and the resolution was lost.

THE WATER WORKS.

B. B. Eldridge, Esq., presented the following:

WHEREAS, Turner, Clarke & Rawson of the city of Boston, Massachusetts, by their certain contract dated May 5th, A. D. 1890, have agreed to construct and adopt by the mayor and common council of the city of Janesville, Wisconsin, did agree to construct and maintain water works in said city of Janesville in manner that said works shall be able to furnish a plentiful supply of pure and wholesome water in said city of Janesville and its inhabitants for personal, domestic and manufacturing purposes, and to maintain said works at all times in good and efficient order, and to supply said works with water sufficient to give streams upon due notice, and also so as to be able to throw and maintain six fire streams through eight hundred feet of two and one-half inch rubber hose and one inch rubber hose and one inch building hose existing in said city;

WHEREAS, said Turner, Clarke & Rawson, did by their said contract further agree that in case they should fail to construct said works of the capacity specified by their said contract within the time limited thereby, or to maintain the efficiency of said works, or to furnish a constant supply of water and the necessary pressure for fire purposes as by their said contract is provided, then all the right and privileges thereby granted to them shall be forfeited and the said city of Janesville shall be relieved from further liability for said contract, provided, however, that a temporary failure arising from unavoidable accidents and not due to fault or negligence on part of said Turner, Clarke & Rawson shall not work a forfeiture if the defect shall be repaired without unnecessary delay; and

WHEREAS, also, it is claimed that at, prior and during the late burning and destruction of the Myers Opera house in said city of Janesville, the water works pretended to be constructed by said Turner, Clarke & Rawson under and pursuant to the requirements of their said contract did not furnish or maintain a constant supply of water nor the necessary pressure for fire purposes as by their said contract is provided.

Resolved, by the Business Men's Association of said city of Janesville, that the common council of the city of Janesville be and hereby are requested to fully examine into the matters and claims aforementioned, and for that purpose and the better protection of the property of said city of Janesville, and to submit the questions of the sufficiency and efficiency of said water works to the examination and determination of one or more disinterested hydrodynamic engineers.

Resolved, That in case said water works on such examination and determination be found insufficient or inefficient, that said common council be and are hereby requested to enforce all forfeitures provided for in the aforementioned contract.

And resolved, that the clerk of this association be and hereby is directed to deliver to the mayor of the city of Janesville, a copy of these resolutions, together with a copy of the contract, and to submit the same to the common council, of the city of Janesville, for the purpose aforementioned.

The resolution was seconded by Mr. E. M. Hyzer, and also by Mayor Winans, the latter gentleman stating that the common council already had the matter under investigation.

Mr. Eldridge stated that he wanted it distinctly understood that he had no desire to antagonize the Water Works Co. He should be gratified to know that the works were all that the contract called for. The people were anxious to know whether we had protection or not.

Mr. M. G. Jeffris spoke in favor of the resolution and favored appointing a committee to act independently of the engineers. There were some facts about the opera house fire that should be thoroughly investigated. Mr. Whitford, the special manager of the board of underwriters told him the day after the fire, that a number of his companies had written him to advance rates in Janesville rather than to reduce them. If the fire engines were sold the rates would advance.
